Communion/ The Last Supper

- Christians remember Jesus' death and resurrection throughout the year, particularly through the celebration of Communion/the Lord's Supper (also known as The Last Supper).
- In Christianity, Holy Week is the week leading up to Easter Sunday. The week begins on Palm Sunday and includes the events of The Last Supper, Jesus' arrest in Gethsemane, Jesus' crucifixion on Good Friday, and his resurrection on Easter Sunday.

The Last Supper was Jesus' last meal before he died, and he shared two signs with his followers:

1. Bread as a symbol for his body being broken.
2. Wine as a symbol for his blood being spilled when he was crucified.

Jesus' Death Was a Sacrifice

- Christians believe that Jesus' death was a sacrifice. They believe this was a price he paid to save people from their sins and bring them back to God.
- Christians think of this in different ways; for example, people deserve punishment for their sins but Jesus was punished in the place of everyone – he was a substitute; Jesus took everyone's sins as he died.

Communion means, simply, 'togetherness' and this is a ritual to show the togetherness of Christians and God. The Last Supper was Jesus' last meal before he died and he shared two signs with his followers: Bread as a symbol for his body being broken, and wine as a symbol for his blood being spilled when he was crucified.
