Key Learning:

Both giving and receiving are important within different communities and this shared act builds strong communities.

- giving and receiving are shared human values that help build strong communities
- there are links between what people believe and what they do to help others
- many religious and non-religious people give to their community (e.g. money, service and time)
- how and what people give shows what's important to them
- giving your time and effort can be more costly than giving lots of money

How does giving (and receiving) make us happy?

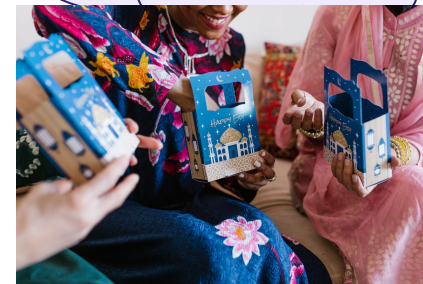

How does supporting a charity help you to give, and what do you receive by giving?

For Christians, God's greatest gift was Jesus.

Christians, Jews & Muslims all worship God by giving.

Langar is a Sikh community kitchen in their temple, where anyone can eat free of charge.
